Your Weak Heart

Will Never Get Well Without Assistance But Will Continue to Grow Weaker

Because it cannot stop to rest and recuperate, but is compelled to toil on from the beginning to the end of your life. The first indications of a weak heart are redness of face, oppressed feeling in chest, weak or hungry spells, palpitation, fluttering, etc., which should be immediately recognized, and cured with

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

If these symptoms are not promptly corrected serious conditions soon follow: Feeble pulse, smothering spells, pain around heart, in side and under shoulders, inability to lay on left side and swelling of feet and ankles. This is a very serious stage, when the heart is liable to stop-and at any minute. Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is the only safe remedy at this time, and with persistent use will almost always effect a cure. "I thought I would write and tell you what your Heart Remedy has done for me. I suffered terribly with heart trouble, shortness of breath, palpitation and pain around my heart. I have taken several bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am now enjoying good health, thanks to this wonderful remedy."-

MISS EMMA J. BARTON, Watertown, N. Y. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is so sure to cure that all druggists are authorized to return money if first bottle fails to benefit. We stand behind the guarantee. DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., LABORATORIES, ELKHART, IND.

MINERS BEND EFFORTS HEAL BREACH AND

(CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.) miners who favor a strike believe they will be supported by their locals, as they bear instructions from them against accepting a compromise. Those who wish to prevent a calamity are more or less skeptical as to the result of the referendum vote. The Claypool Hotel was almost deserted of operators yesterday, most of them having gone out Saturday night. F. L. Robbins is still here, but will leave to-day for Pittsburg. The position of the operators, he says, has not changed, and the yoke of a peaceful settlement now rests upon the necks of the miners. When asked if he had had any conversation with Mr. Mitchell in regard to plans for a resumption of the interstate movement Mr. Robbins would not answer. He said, however, that should it be resumed it would have to undergo a

HOPE FOR INTERSTATE MOVEMENT While it is generally admitted that the Interstate movement was disrupted by the vote of the miners Saturday, there are still some hopes that it may be rescued from a premature grave. If the referendum vote favors the compromise, amicable relations interstate movement. This could be done by ing them to the city in a convention, where the compromised scale could be signed and however, such possibilities are more or less visionary. When the strike is warded off,

The miners' convention is expected to adfourn this evening by which time they will have finished their work. In case another deadlock should arise in the convention, an extra session may be necessary to-morrow. The delegates will return directly to their mining districts.

COAL STRIKE WOULD HINDER INDUSTRY HERE

Manufacturers and Others Discuss Threatened Labor War, Regarding Local Effect.

That local industry would be seriously affected by the coal strike threatened by Saturday's action of the miners in joint conference with the operators in this city by the statements of a number of large manufacturers interviewed by the Journal

Those representatives of Indianapolis manufactories seen by the Journal gave the information that their plants would have to close within periods of time ranging from one week to two months after the shutting down of the mines in the event of a general strike.

A. W. Coffin, of Coffin, Fletcher & Co., said his company carries not more than a "We have not the facilities to carry a large stock of coal," he said, "and can only take care of about six or eight cars, or about a week's supply. strike, but deplored the situation. "We have plenty of coal for the present," he said, "probably enough to last about People Who Want to Locate in six weeks. But the situation is very unfortunate, and a strike would worry us just the same as it would worry others. Yet I am inclined to think that the case is not hopeless yet, although it looks bad.' could run from about three weeks to thirty days, and we have contracts for enough more to run us until about the middle of May-if the contracts are filled. Coal operators are apt to do at this time as they always do; give the coal to some-body who bids higher than we have done. Our orders that have been accepted amount to several hundred cars to be delivered this month, but these would probably be cut off in the event of a strike. We might be able to get a supply somewhere, but it would cost a great deal of money to run." D. W. Marmon, of Nordyke & Marmon, could give no definite statement. He said: "We have a reasonable amount on hand, but we don't want a strike. Although we have coal coming in all the time by carloads, it gets cleaned up quickly when a strike comes. I can't say definitely how long we could run." Edward H. Dean, of Dean Brothers, believes in making calculations only on what said, "enough coal to last for about three or four weeks. Of course we always have a lot of coal on the road, but in the event

HEARING

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. BEDFORD, Ind., March 6.-Counsel for McDonald, the Schafer suspect, will renew the fight to free their client from the obnoxious presence of Pinkerton Detective Reed in open court to-morrow.

Attorneys Palmer and Vance will insist by petition, substantiated by personal affidavits, that Reed has annoyed, persecuted. maltreated and otherwise influenced their client to the extent of forcing him to make diverse and sundry statements derogatory

If counsel fails to secure the much desired restraining order against Reed, they will resort to habeas corpus proceedings, with a view of securing the release of Mc-Donald. This move will be taken prior to the grand jury's action. The prosecution has intimation of the pursued by McDonald's attorneys, and will adopt measures to-morrow to expedite the investigation.

OF THE WEEK

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TOLEDO, O., March 6.-There is a plan on foot to organize the large oil operators in Ohio and Indiana into a company for the purpose of handling their product from the wells to the consumer. This will come about by the laying of pipe lines and the building of an extensive oil refinery, one in each State, so that they can refine their own product and put it on the market, thereby getting the benefit that the Standard Oil Company has had for years. The pipe lines now charge a rate of 20 cents a barrel for piping oil, and also a certain percentage for waste, etc. In this branch alone there are big profits, to say nothing of the profits of the illuminating oil and the byproducts after they are refined.
